Advertisements will command a favor by forwarding information to this office when their papers are not duly delivered. This will greatly aid us in our efforts to determine where the fault lies.

ALL Mail Communications intended for this office should be addressed to THE HERALD, Salt Lake City, Utah, and not to individuals.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEYSHIP.

Mr. John A. Marshall, of the city law firm of Hall & Marshall, is understood to be a candidate for the office of United States District Attorney for this Territory. Of the local lawyers who can be classed as among those who stand any chance for the place, we know of none who would be more acceptable than Mr. Marshall, or who is better qualified for the performance of the duties of the office. He is an attorney above the average in ability, is industrious, hard-working and energetic, and his course here has been such as to command the respect of the community.

Great care should be exercised in filling the office of District Attorney for this Territory. The position is one requiring not only ability and learning in the law, but a keen sense of equity and an appreciation of the claims of right and justice. There should be an absence of prejudice and a total lack of vindictiveness, two qualities which characterize the present District Attorney. A wise officer can perform his duties, disagreeable to himself and offensive to the community as they necessarily must be in many instances, in such a way as to enforce the law without arousing the antagonism of the people, and keeping the community in a state of excitement and turmoil fatal to peace and destructive of prosperity. In other words, it is possible for a man to be District Attorney, and do his whole duty to the government without being an enemy to the Territory, injurious to its best interests. Mr. Dickinson, the present Attorney, thinks otherwise, and acts in harmony with his ideas, but the thoughts and conduct of Mr. Dickinson furnish no criterion for other lawyers.

We believe Mr. Marshall would prove an efficient, faithful and conscientious officer, and hope that if he is an applicant for the place, the influence he may be able to command will be sufficient to obtain for him the appointment.

THE ORPHANS' EXCURSION.

Old Folks' Day has become an institution in this city, and the Orphans' Excursion is taking a place by its side. The same kind-hearted, thoughtful, generous people who conceived the happy idea of surrendering one day of the summer to the old folks, when everybody could contribute to the entertainment and pleasure of the generation that is so swiftly passing away, are the authors of the annual excursion and feast for the orphan, the friendless and the homeless children. The charity and thoughtfulness of these gentlemen and ladies express themselves in a most delightful manner—in the conferring of happiness on the classes most deserving of it and least able to obtain it for themselves. Hundreds of little hearts will be made joyful to-morrow, in a bright day that will flame paths that are more or less dreary for the remaining three hundred and sixty-five days of the year. While a few only actively interest themselves in these events, doing the work and contributing their time and largely of the money required, right-minded people generally are in hearty sympathy with them, and it would be well if this sympathy were expressed in the substantial form of contributions of money and food dainties. A suggestion should be sufficient.

SOME ENTERPRISING publishers of England introduced the American mechanical contrivance for cutting and pasting their newspapers, but were scouted upon by the sturdy British reader, and had to return to their heavy, dreary sheets, the appearance of which wears the American. Your true Englishman has a mortal dislike for anything in the way of an innovation. His progenitors cut the pages of their ponderous newspapers, and he will do the same thing though you show him a better and altogether more convenient way of getting at the news.

Hark! is a specimen of the "rot" that the average editor of the average country newspaper outside of Utah feeds to his readers. It is taken from an eastern exchange, and is a fair sample of the ordinary paragraph on Utah: "Private advices from Salt Lake City report a feeling of bitterness growing up between the Mormons and Gentiles in Utah that threatens a bloody collision almost any day. All the Mormons are said to be armed. The United States troops in Camp Douglas, near Salt Lake City, are in readiness for service."

ANARCHIST INSPIRATION.

At a Socialist picnic in Chicago the other day sixty barrels of beer were consumed, though one of the banners carried in the procession read: "Our children cry for bread." Also at one of their meetings a man who suggested that it would be possible to live on a dollar a day if the person who received that not extravagant income would abstain from whisky and beer, was set upon by the mob and severely beaten. Intemperance is one of the chief causes of poverty and dissatisfaction among the classes which contribute to the ranks of the Anarchists. If the gin mills were closed the Socialist who now rants and raves about the oppression of the rich would be deprived of most of his inspiration, and he would find little to complain of. Of course a dollar a day is insufficient for a person to live comfortably on, even if he were to abstain entirely from beer and whisky, but the sober, economical man can live better on that sum than can the Anarchist on three times the amount, who spends so much of his time and money in the way that the average agitator disposes of his. Men who can afford to buy and swallow down beer as the Chicago Socialists did at the Sunday picnic recently, have no right to say their children cry for bread; and if the children do cry for bread, the parents should be jailed for cruelty. There will be no crying for bread in America, no matter how dull the times are, or how badly denationalized labor may be, when men are willing to work and know how to spend their money as it should be spent.

"THE CODE" is fast falling into disrepute in Virginia, its former stronghold. The other day a man in Richmond received a challenge to fight a duel, and instead of accepting he had the man who sent it arrested and led through the streets to the station house by a policeman. It is said that the law has had less to do with the suppression of dueling than the fact that two or three duels have lately been fought by negroes, and the whites have become disgusted with the vulgarization of what the bloods regarded as their exclusive privilege.

A NOVEL SUIT has been instituted in San Francisco. Edward Robinson lost two children from the effects of a defective drain, and now he brings suit against the owner of the premises, placing the damages at $100,000. Robinson says the proprietor of the place knew the drainage was bad but represented that it was good, upon which the house was taken.
